Atom Blast In Nevada Rocks West

Explosion Four Times As Large
As War Bombs

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev., July 5 (UP)—The controlled fury of a man-made sun exploding on earth rocked the western United States today with the detonation of a monster atomic bomb equal in force to 75,000 tons of TNT.

An area estimated at a million square miles west of the Rockies saw the flash which was visible from the Canadian to the Mexican borders and as far west as 800 miles at sea where the pilot of an airliner flying from Hawaii saw the sky light up from the man-made sun.

Despite the size and power of the nuclear detonation set off at 5:40 a.m. (CST), suspended from a helium-filled balloon 1,500 feet over the Nevada test site, the blast's effect had been so carefully calculated, timed and fired that not a man was injured nor a pane of glass broken.

Blast of Heat

But, within the confines of the proving grounds, the nuclear device went off with a searing blast of heat estimated at nearly a million degrees centigrade that set fire to brush on the slopes of a small mountain ridge several miles north of Ground Zero.

On News Nob, 13 miles away, it felt like stepping in front of the open door of a mammoth blast furnace. And the concussion of the explosion actually rocked observers on the hillside, who were forced to steady themselves to keep from being knocked down by the blast.

In Los Angeles, 300 miles to the southwest, the blast rattled windows and shook the area so powerfully that many sleepers thought they were being awakened by an earthquake.

Marines Stand Shock

But so carefully was the device set off that some 2,000 Marines about 3 1/2 miles from Ground Zero reported that aside from some slight caving in of their trenches they successfully withstood the blast without harm.

The blinding flash in the pre-dawn darkness was followed by the formation of a tremendous fireball. It was like a man-made (Continued On Page Two-A)

Cement Industry Strike Spreads; Pinch Being Felt

CHICAGO, July 5 (UP)—New Walkouts spread through the nation's cement industry today, and contractors in the East, South and Midwest, felt a growing supply pinch.

The United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers Union said some 13,000 of its 23,000 members were idle at 62 of the 140 production plants throughout the country.

Included, said Toney Gallo, general secretary-treasurer of the union, are the bulk of plants operated by the largest concerns.

Gallo said that one independent producer today signed terms conforming to a 16-cent package pattern concluded July 1 with the Marquette Cement Manufacturing Co., the only major firm which has signed an agreement.

New Signer

The new signer was the Volunteer Portland Cement Co. at Knoxville, Tenn.

New walkouts at plants of the Lehigh Portland Cement Co. at Mason City, Iowa, and Mitchell, Ind., brought to 13 the number of that firm's operations which have been shut. Only one Lehigh plant remained in operation, that at Melaine Falls, Wash., where local contract talks are pending.

The union also reported that the plant of the Medusa Portland Cement Co. was struck yesterday. Shutdowns in Illinois cut supplies for the Chicago area by half.

Another shutdown reported by the union was that of the Lone Star Cement Co. at Bonner Springs, Kan.

Few In South, West

Thus far, relatively few plants in the Southwest or West have been affected. The union said production has been crippled in New England, New York, Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio, and there have been serious curtailments of output in Southern areas.

Effects of the strike have been felt acutely only in a few localities of the East and South where large projects are under way.

Contractors were worried about effects of a continued curtailment. One project which would be affected is work on two locks of the St. Lawrence Seaway being constructed by the United States.

Knowland Expects Rights Filibuster By Late Next Week

WASHINGTON, July 5, (AP)—Round-the-clock sessions of the Senate may be started late next week if a filibuster develops against the administration's civil rights bill, Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said today.

Knowland, the Senate's Republican leader, announced he will move on Monday to take up the controversial legislation, which has been passed by the House.

He said he hopes to get a vote on his motion by the end of the week, whereupon the Southern opposition would open a full-scale attack on the civil rights measure.

To Mid-September

Knowland estimated the Senate will have to stay in session until mid-September to settle the civil rights issue one way or the other and then deal with the rest of the legislative calendar.

He told reporters he favors starting out with a normal session of the Senate Monday and then adding an hour or two on the next two days. If the motion can't be brought to a vote in a long session

Thursday, he said, they may have to resort to round-the-clock sessions.

The leader of the Southern opposition, Sen. Russell (D-La.), has said his bloc does not plan unusually long speeches against Knowland's motion, at least at the outset. Russell and other Southern senators are in a bargaining mood at the present stage of proceedings.

Not Slamming Door
Knowland has said he is not slamming the door on any amendments to soften the civil rights bill, a measure which Russell has called "vicious" and which he has predicted "will cause unspeakable confusion, bitterness and bloodshed" in the South if passed.

HIGHWAY MASSACRE

Deadly Spurt Of Death Is Slowed

By UNITED PRESS

A deadly spurt of Fourth of July holiday traffic smashups slowed down Friday night and hopes rose for heading off a major highway massacre.

With the 102-hour holiday half over, the National Safety Council said the traffic death rate was not quite as bad as that of a normal July period of the same length.

Earlier, the council was fearful its prediction of 535 traffic deaths by Sunday midnight would be reached. Late Friday, however, a spokesman said the count might be nearer the normal four-day tally of 465, a saving of 70 lives.

At the 54-hour point, a United Press count from 6 p.m. Wednesday until 12 midnight Friday showed 194 deaths in traffic accidents. Drawings also claimed an alarming toll, with 116 reported. There was 1 firework death, 7 in plane crashes and 32 in miscellaneous accidents for a holiday total of 330.

Ohio led the state-by-state traffic death count with 16. There were 15 in Pennsylvania, 13 each in California, Michigan and Texas, 10 in New York and 8 in Illinois.

The worst traffic disaster of the holiday occurred near Copemish, Mich., when seven persons were killed and three injured in a car-truck collision late Friday. Police said the seven dead were among nine occupants of a car which bore Arkansas license plates.

Coleman, Tensas sheriff for 20 years, also is a member of the state central committee, which names the national committee.

Tensas Parish is a Mississippi River Delta parish, with almost 60 per cent Negro population. It is one of four Louisiana parishes without a single Negro registered to vote.

"With our Legislature doing everything possible to prevent the destruction of our southern way of life... it seems contradictory that we would permit Mr. Gravel to appear on the national scene as our spokesman, giving the impression to the nation that we approve of his pronouncement regarding civil rights," Coleman continued.

CLIMBS WITH HEAT

City's Electricity Usage Nearing Last Year's Peak

F. L. (French) Smith, chairman of the Monroe Utilities Commission, yesterday pointed to Wednesday's electrical peak load of 29,000 kilowatts—highest of the year—in terms of the upcoming bond election a "must getting bigger day by day."

Smith announced that the peak load at the power plant Wednesday was only 800 kilowatts less than the highest day last summer, which was reached in late August.

"With the days getting hotter and more and more air conditioning being used," Smith explained, "I don't see how we'll fail to go above 30,000 kilowatts at the plant this summer."

He pointed out that the plant capacity is 4,500 kilowatts, but explained that emergency steps are being taken to handle a situation if the load reached the capacity.

Election Called

The City Council recently called a $4 1/2 million bond election for July 30th to finance an expansion program at the plant.

Trial Seen For Ousted Red Leaders

Expect Top 3
To Be Dropped
By Red Party

LONDON, July 5 (UP)—The mounting Kremlin campaign of abuse against the disgraced Molotov trio and other ousted Stalinists today showed all the earmarks of preparations for a purge trial.

Reports contained in Western diplomatic dispatches received here today predicted Vyacheslav Molotov, Georgi Malenkov and Lazar Kaganovich shortly will be deprived of their party membership as well as their party rank and cabinet posts. This could be the last step before ordering an actual trial for "conspiracy" against the Khrushchev faction, the reports said.

The campaign of personal and ideological vilification by Soviet officials, the press and Radio Moscow was in the classic pattern of Stalin-era purges.

Writing on Wall

The handwriting also appeared on the wall for M. Pervukhin and M. Saburov, two other members of the ruling body of the party who lost their posts. Radio Moscow announced today that they, too, had been ousted from their government positions as deputy premiers.

Communist sources in London indicated that if there were a trial, the Stalinists could face the death penalty they so often condoned for fallen comrades during their years of high power.

According to advices received in London, it appeared a decision (Continued On Page Two-A)

305th Body Is Recovered From Cameron Marsh

LAKE CHARLES, La., July 5 (UP)—Cleanup and search crews today discovered the 305th dead victim of Hurricane Audrey in devastated areas of Cameron parish.

The list of known missing dropped to 85 names as the search for the missing became more systematic and overlapping lists were consolidated.

Mrs. Veronica Theriot, 60, and John B. Theriot, 62, not related, were the latest names added to the fatality list, according to Sheriff Henry Reid of Lake Charles. So far, 188 victims have been identified.

Most areas of Cameron parish have been divided into blocks. Searchers in helicopters, automobiles and on foot are assigned specific blocks to check.

Many of the marshland areas contained automobiles moved hundreds of yards by the hurricane, which struck the morning of June 27. It was feared the cars will turn up many bodies of persons trapped by a 10 to 30 foot tidal wave which engulfed the coastal region of Southwest Louisiana.

Gov. Earl Long and Calcasieu Parish Coroner Harry Slaton predicted the death toll may hit 500 to 700.

Property damage estimates in the Cameron-Lake Charles area reported by insurance adjusters range from $100 million up.

A controversy has continued as to whether or not the weather bureau's arrival furnished adequate warning to residents of the stricken area.

Administration Ordered To Drop Soil Bank Cuts

WASHINGTON, July 5 (UP)—A Senate-House conference committee ordered the administration today to abandon plans to clamp down on 1958 soil conservation subsidy payments to farmers.

It declared that "flood and drought conditions in much of the nation make it imperative that the 1957 (conservation) program practices be continued in 1958."

The directive was contained in a conference report on a compromise multi-billion dollar agriculture appropriations bill filed in the House today by Rep. Jamie L. Whitten (D-Miss.).

The conference group secretly agreed on the report a week ago. It was made public today on the heels of reports that the administration planned a drastic tightening of eligibility rules for conservation subsidy payments.

Red Army Backing Kremlin Shuffle

Red Regime To Face Test On Disarming

LONDON, July 5 (UP)—The West will test the sincerity of the Kremlin shakeup with a disarmament plan to open all East-West territory from the Atlantic Ocean to the Siberian frontier for aerial photography, informed sources said today.

The plan would include more Soviet territory than Western land because the Soviet Union is proportionately larger.

If the Russians accept it, the West would regard this as a firm indication of sincerity on the part of the Russian leaders who have driven out the Stalin elements in the Kremlin this week.

Produces Plan

U. S. Delegate Harold E. Stassen today formally presented to Russia in the five-power UN Disarmament subcommittee conference the rest of the West's proposals for disposition of nuclear weapons.

Informed sources said Stassen told Soviet Delegate Valerian Zorin the United States would be willing to contribute 53 units of fissionable materials to international stockpiles for peaceful uses to every 47 units contributed by the Russians.

Prefers 50-50

He said the United States would prefer a 50-50 arrangement but would be willing to contribute more if the Russians insisted.

Zorin said he would answer to the proposal after he studies it. Stassen also said the United States reserved the right to rebuild nuclear weapons from "dirty" to "clean" ones whenever agreement takes effect banning future production of them.

He said the United States could not accept a complete ban on the use of nuclear weapons in event of war but pledged that the United States never would use them against any nations not violating the United Nations charter.

Nullification Of Status-Of-Forces Pacts Requested

WASHINGTON, July 5 (UP)—Attorneys for G. I. William S. Girard asked the Supreme Court today to nullify this nation's status-of-forces agreements with its allies on grounds they are unconstitutional and "morally wrong."

They said in a brief filed with the high court that U. S. servicemen were stripped of "every vestige of constitutional rights" by agreements allowing American servicemen to be tried by foreign courts for off-duty crimes.

The brief was Girard's answer to the government's demand that the G. I. be tried by a Japanese court on manslaughter charges for killing a Japanese woman on a military firing range. The court will hear oral arguments in the case Monday.

Appealed by Government

The case was carried to the high court by the government after a federal district court ordered a U. S. court martial for Girard and ruled that the military's decision to let Japan try him was illegal.

If the court should overturn the U. S.-Japanese agreement, the ruling also would nullify similar agreements the United States has with its European allies. Administration leaders have said this would jeopardize America's overseas bases program.

The legal action came as Girard, a 21-year-old Ottawa, Ill. soldier, married his Japanese girl friend, Haru (Candy) Sueyama, 29, in a quiet ceremony at the post chapel at Camp Whittington, Japan.

Girard sent her home on a bus after the ceremony because he is restricted to the base under guard until the charges against him are settled.

Asked G.I.'s Release

Girard's lawyers told the court that Congress alone "has the power to determine jurisdiction in cases involving the military forces." They asked the court to order Girard's release from custody "forthwith."

The attorneys also asked for the argument of Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. that Japan (Continued On Page Two-A)

Persistence Pays Off With Jackpot

By BONANZA BILL

After missing by one word for four consecutive weeks, Mrs. Bertha Wilkinson, Parker Road, Monroe, this week won the Morning World's crossword puzzle jackpot worth $625.

Mrs. Wilkinson, a grandmother, said, "I never expected to win—I just like to work puzzles."

She said she had been sending in entries for the past three months, and was "weak kneed" over finally cashing in on the prize.

"I don't have any special method of working puzzles, I just sit down when I have the spare time and start putting down what comes into my head."

She plans to use part of the money to have dental work done.

Hard To Believe
When handed the $625 check by W. B. Goza, circulation manager of the Morning World, Mrs. Wilkinson said, "I still can't believe it—why, I never expected to win."

Mrs. Wilkinson sent in two cards this week, working all the clues correctly on one, and missing No. 18 across and No. 10 down on another.

Here are explanations of the more difficult clues which Mrs. Wilkinson worked correctly to collect her $625 prize:

West Monroe is all swelled up, for she completely outclassed her rival big sister on the east bank of the Ouachita last month in the matter of building permits. Never in the history of this town on the west bank of the Ouachita here have building figures zoomed up past a million dollars. Last month it stood at $1,377,950 and Monroe failed to reach a half-million in her permits.

Just a little while back, permits were so small the West Monroe newspaper barely troubled to mention them, but now for several months they have vaulted upwards to delight residents in their town.

But to bring the populace from being too exultant it is to be explained that the figures this month were big because a new junior high school was included and also the large office building of the (Continued On Page Two-A)

AT TEXAS BAR MEET

Lawyers Urged To Cancel Ban On Courtroom Pictures

FORT WORTH, Tex., July 5 (UP)—A leading campaigner for press freedom urged the nation's lawyers tonight to drop their objections to the taking of newspaper photographs in courtrooms during trials.

Herbert Brucker, editor of the Hartford, Conn., Courant and chairman of the freedom of information committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, spoke out against an American canon of ethics condemning courtroom photos, broadcasting and television.

Courts Public

"Our courts have been public from the beginning," Brucker said in a speech prepared for delivery at the annual banquet of the State Bar of Texas. "Photography and broadcasting are merely other ways of making a trial public."

"And while there is a body of legal doctrine that holds a public trial to be a right of the accused, you are well aware of the countervailing doctrine, complete with citations and precedents, that it is rather the right of the public," Brucker said. "It is inevitable that the American Bar Association will eventually drop its flat prohibition of picture taking and leave the matter up to the discretion of individual judges."

"Indeed," he said, "I have no doubt that in all of our states this thing is going to end with a camera in every court. You can see the model of the courtroom of the future in the assembly halls of the U. N. in New York, where there is built-in provision for unobtrusive photography, broadcasting and television."

Fairness Impossible

It is impossible, Brucker said, to have either a fair trial or a free press without the other. Anglo-Saxon jurisprudence insists that trials must be public, he said.

Two More Deputies Lose Jobs

MOSCOW, July 5 (UP)—Two more deputy premiers were fired from their cabinet posts today in a continuing shakeup that had the full support of the Red Army.

Led by Defense Minister and Army Marshal Georgi Zhukov, the army spearheaded a bitter attack on the ousted Stalinists for "conspiracy and intrigue" to overthrow the "elected leaders" and take over with their followers.

The attacks singled out disgraced former Deputy Premiers Vyacheslav Molotov, Lazar Kaganovich and Georgi Malenkov. The campaign against them in the press and at mass meetings was mounting by the hour.

Continuing the reshuffle of the Kremlin hierarchy, the presidium (standing committee) of the supreme Soviet (parliament) removed Mikhail G. Pervukhin and Maxim Saburov from their posts as deputy premiers. But Pervukhin apparently was permitted to stay on as Minister of Medium Machine Building. Saburov was out altogether.

Army Lends Support
The Red army lent its full support to the ousting of "anti-party" officials.

Zhukov, who was raised to the presidium or ruling group of the party central committee, accused the Molotov trio of "conspiratorial action." It was the strongest personal attack on them to date by a high government official.

His speech to the army garrison of Moscow was reported in "Red Star," the official army newspaper, which included its own editorial blast and quoted other generals and admirals against the "anti-party group."

It was believed that still further cabinet changes would be made.

Premier Ranks Thinning
The parliamentary Presidium's announcement of the dismissal of Pervukhin and Saburov simultaneously announced that Alexei Kosygin had been appointed first deputy premier. He presently is chairman of the State Planning Commission. Aside from Kosygin, the shakeup has left Russia with only two first deputy premiers—Anastas Mikoyan and Josef Kuzmin.

The official Tass news agency announcement said Saburov was "dismissed" while Pervukhin was "relieved."

Saburov had been a member of the party presidium and was dropped from it completely along with Molotov, Kaganovich and (Continued On Page Two-A)

Java Monkeys Depose Leader At Grand Rapids

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., July 5 (UP)—Java monkeys at the Grand Rapids Zoo have deposed their "strongman" leader in a bloody revolt that left three dead, five injured and rival gangs under an uneasy truce maintained by zoo attendants armed with fire hoses.

"It was one of those things you hope won't happen but sometimes does among Java monkeys," Fred A. Meyer, zoo director, said.

He said he had no idea what sparked the assassination of King Junior, the monkey community leader, and the succeeding gang fights.

The fighting broke out Wednesday and continued sporadically into today.

King Junior, a 25-pounder, had bossed the community several years since having deposed his own mother who reigned as queen of the zoo's monkey island.

"I'm afraid we'll have to get rid of all the Java monkeys and get some spider or ringtail monkeys," Meyer said. "It doesn't take much when a Java monkey is middle-aged—they'll fight for the fun of it."

sun suddenly appearing on the desert and through the dark glasses worn by observers it even looked like the sun.

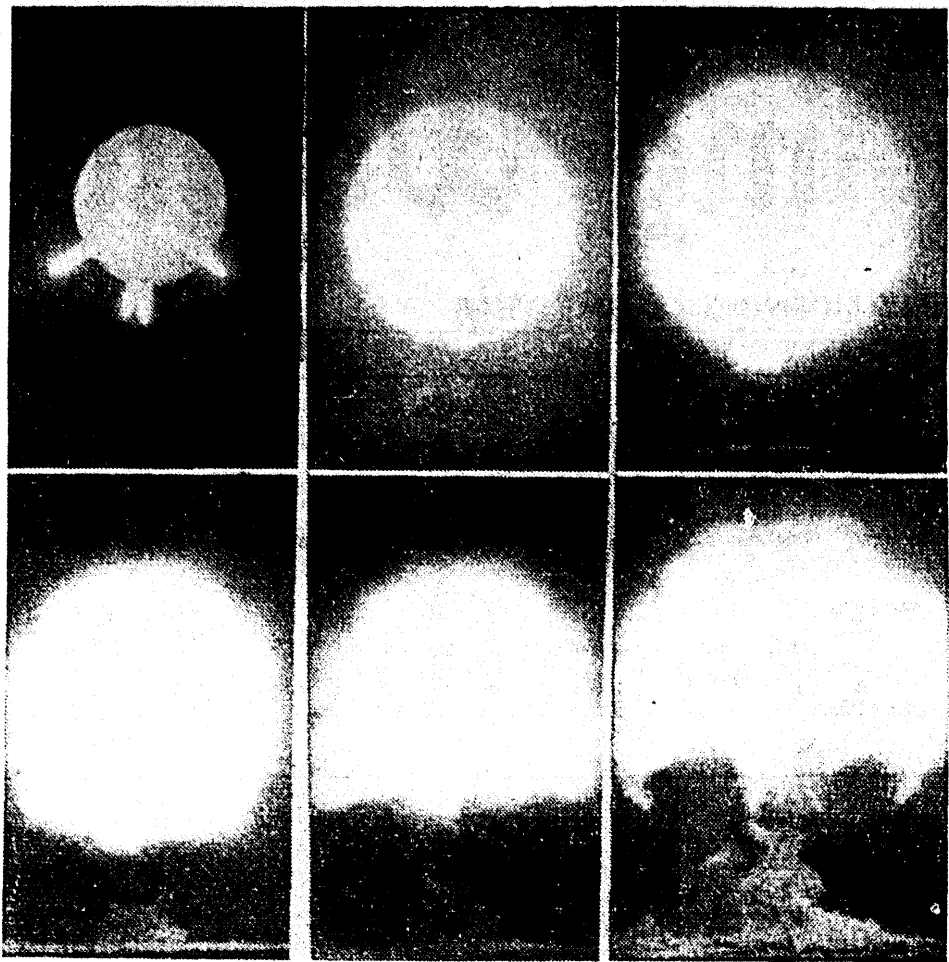

As the fireball lost its brightness, it was followed by the biggest mushroom cloud seen in the test area in six years of firing atomic bombs and devices.

Fallout Small

The huge mushroom-shaped cloud held together as it rose slowly into the sky where gradually upper air winds began twisting its stem and distorting its shape until it finally broke apart and drifted towards the northeast in the direction of Utah.

Despite the power of the detonation, the radioactive fallout was so minute it hardly was recorded. Only a very slight reading was obtained on the test site and areas outside the proving grounds were reported "clean" by the Atomic Energy Commission's experts six hours after the blast.

The detonation was the biggest ever fired inside the United States and was reported by the AEC to have been greater in force than that recorded in the previous largest blast in 1953 in a plane drop which was reported to have had a yield of 60 kilotons or equivalent to 60,000 tons of TNT. The atomic bombs dropped on Japan in World War II had yields of only 20 kilotons.

MANY CASES HANDLED

Two Men Sentenced To Penitentiary During District Court Session Here

Two men were sentenced to 10 days, and James Dickson $25 lie Traylor and R. F. Voss; Luther H. Frost was fined $50 or 30 days; Charles A. Franklin $25 or 10 days; and Next Washington, who was tried and found guilty, was sentenced to 90 days, plus a $25 fine or 15 days.

William W. Dowd, who had been remanded until yesterday for sentencing, was fined $400 or 60 days, plus 125 days mandatory in jail, for driving while intoxicated.

During afternoon court, Oscar Williams was sentenced to 60 days each on charges of theft of a car battery valued at $18 and auto tools valued at $15, the sentences to run concurrently.

John P. Mitchell was fined $300, and costs or 90 days in jail for driving while intoxicated. Mark Donald Roberts changed his plea to guilty on a charge of theft of a tarpaulin valued at $35 and was fined $300 and costs or 60 days.

The previous sentence given Richard Brown for driving without an operator's license was set aside, and a new trial will be held.

Pleading not guilty, and slated to appear on September 13 to answer charges, are Charles R. Brown, James Earl Costello, Charles E. Jackson, Thompson Lively, and Vivian A. Perry, all charged with driving while intoxicated. Lively will also be tried on charges of driving without a license.

Others who will be tried on September 13 and their charges include Dan Demmet, Jr., and Walter M. Taylor, reckless driving; Albert Sanders, disturbing the peace; Sam Falotta, selling intoxicating liquor to minors.

Homers C. Guise forfeited bond when he failed to appear on charges of driving while intoxicated.

W. C. Hicks entered a plea of not guilty to aggravated battery and Marion Davis pled not guilty to simple burglary.

Cases fixed for trial, and continued until September 13, include John Lee Caldwell, charged with driving while intoxicated, without a driver's license, and with a switched license plate; John L. Holloway, charged with driving while intoxicated.

Continued without date are the trials of Claude I. Watkins, charged with driving while intoxicated; Wilds F. Ross, charged with failure to close a place of business at midnight; and J. B. Baxter, charged with driving while intoxicated, without a driver's license, and without a 1957 license plate.

City Briefs

CLOSED MONDAYS

H. W. McSherry, commissioner of finance and utilities for the City of Monroe, has issued a reminder that Swayze Natatorium will be closed each Monday for cleaning and general maintenance.

The pool is open from 7 a.m. until 9 p.m. each day except Monday, including holidays.

CHARGES DROPPED
Charges against a former West Point cadet who had been apprehended for attempted burglary last month have been dropped, according to District Attorney Albin P. Lassiter.

William N. Holladay, 22, was arrested on the roof of Evans and Son's Clothing, 305 Wood street, West Monroe, by police, and was later transferred to the Ouachita parish jail. Lassiter said that the charge was not formally filed by the district attorney's office after "consultations with doctors."

OIL STOLEN
Sixteen quarts of oil valued at $6.95 were taken from a gasoline service station located at 300 Coleman street, West Monroe, between 8 p.m. Thursday and 6 a.m. yesterday. The theft was reported to the West Monroe police department yesterday by attendants who stated that an oil container located between two gasoline pumps east of the service station building was pried open, and the oil then taken. The case is under investigation by West Monroe police.

CUT ON HEAD
A three-year-old Monroe boy suffered a small cut on the head, when he ran from behind a parked watermelon truck into the path of a car driven by Mrs. Joseph Lasuzzo, 1306 Park avenue, yesterday afternoon.

Edwin Charles Hammons of 103 S. Sixth street was taken to a private physician by Mrs. Lasuzzo and treated for the cut, which he suffered when he ran in front of her car on North Fifth street and was knocked to the pavement.

DON'T MISS THE BIG WORLD THIS SUNDAY

You'll not want to miss the big Monroe Morning World coming your way this Sunday. It will be crammed with features and stories for all the family.

There'll be a nice section for the women, including the Garden and Home page, which father might like also if he works around the house and in the yard.

Then, too, The Big Sunday World will have four pages of sports. In that section you'll find all the major league boxes and results of all leagues, plus standings. In addition, there will be all the information about the other major sporting events of the day, plus Sports Editor Paul Martin's column.

In the Sunday World you will also find in detail all the major news happenings at home and abroad, along with the latest pictures of those events, plus local and regional coverage that you can get only in the World.

Two More Deputies Lose Jobs

Malenkov, Pervukhin, a full member of the presidium was dropped to alternate member, which means he can attend meetings but has no vote.

Top Technocrat

Pervukhin often has been called Russia's top technocrat. He headed the State Economic Commission from December until May of this year.

Saburov had been a first deputy premier since 1953 and has been chairman of the Economic Commission.

Both men hold the Order of Lenin, one of the highest Soviet awards.

Kosygin, the new first deputy premier, had served as a deputy premier before, from 1953 to last December.

The ouster of Saburov and Pervukhin occurred in the midst of a mounting campaign designed to discredit the entire "anti-party group" in the eyes of the people.

The Soviet army newspaper included an attack on onetime Foreign Minister Dmitri T. Shepilov who also lost party standing and his job as a party secretary.

All, however, still were believed to hold party membership.

Trial Seen For Ousted Red Leaders

Soviet Party Chief Nikita S. Khrushchev, whose power was approaching that of his late master, Josef Stalin, was sounding out popular opinion by the disgraced Stalinists.

Mass meetings in Russia have been reported throughout Russia, both in factories and at military garrisons.

One tipoff came with the Moscow announcement that workers in the Ural Mountain city of Molotov petitioned the Supreme Soviet (parliament) to change the name of the city back to Perm, which it originally was called.

Radio Moscow commentators denounced the ousted Stalinists as "rotten branches" and "adventurists."

Farmers, who liked Malenkov, were given a concession. An order effective Jan. 1 abolished the rule that they must give the state a percentage of the produce grown on the small plots they are allowed to own privately.

However, it was believed that there would be no sudden announcement of a trial.

Western diplomatic sources said it probably would take weeks before Khrushchev's strategy was revealed.

In the meantime, Molotov, Malenkov and Kaganovich were enjoying a technical freedom, even though it may be shortlived.

A Polish correspondent in Moscow informed his editor in Warsaw that a Soviet official denied rumors supposedly emanating from Poland that the three Stalinists were under house arrest—or any other form of detention.

It seemed certain that whatever their fate, other Stalinists in the satellites would go the same way.

Rites Set For Drowning Victim

BASTROP (Special)—Funeral services for 16-year-old Winston Sawyer, whose body was recovered from Bayou Bartholomew at about 11 p.m. Thursday, will be held today at 4 p.m. at the Zachary Church with the Rev. Fulton Chambers and the Rev. Simpson Powell officiating.

Burial will follow in the church cemetery under the direction of the Blackwell-Golden Funeral Home of Bastrop.

The youth drowned Thursday afternoon as he attempted to swim across Bayou Bartholomew in Morehouse parish.

Survivors include his father, Harry M. Sawyer, Bastrop; his grandmother, Mrs. C. E. Sikes, of Bastrop.

Funeralbearers will be Ollie Fanner, Kelsey Sawyer, Gaston Harrison, Barney Robertson, Vesper Jones and W. W. Stephens.

It will be some time before there are figures like these let loose for West Monroe.

West Monroe soon will be able to announce figures of the new library building. The sum of $182,000 is permitted for this construction.

It was a real brotherly gesture that came out from warm hearts as well as ready purses, when convicts in Angola together pooled their meager funds and a total of $2,000 was raised to aid sufferers from the hurricane that hit Cameron parish.

It was a mighty good thing for those men to do and we know they will receive a blessing for their unselfish assistance. It makes us realize that many unfortunates in state prison still have warm hearts that give hope that in different surroundings the pattern of their lives might be completely rejuvenated and become an aid and blessing to humanity.

A former West Monroe cleric, the Rev. Charles Holstead, now of California, will preach twice for Emmanuel church tomorrow when the assembly meets in the highland school at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

He is coming back here from Napa, Calif., where he is now pastor of Silverado Baptist Church. His many friends will be pleased to hear him again at these two services on Sunday.

Mrs. Peggy Garnett was at first disturbed for the welfare of a niece, a former WAC and now with the U. S. Embassy in Iran where earthquakes are said to have cost 1,000 lives.

However, later information was to the effect that country south of the Caspian sea was the area damaged. Her niece is far inland and probably not affected.

West Monroe Riding club has just named new officers. Joe Rogers states that he is enthusiastic, but that he confines his exercise to the seat of his surrey.

The riders have a big time each Sunday as they make use of the fair grounds.

The members just named are: Loyce Nolan, president; Rip Pipes, vice-president; Mrs. Norwood Albritton, secretary; Mrs. Ben McPhink, treasurer; Harold Morrison, parade marshal; Norwood Albritton, assistant parade marshal; Mrs. Joe Rogers, refreshments chairman, and Mrs. D. A. Shell, her assistant.

Nullification Of Status-Of-Forces Pacts Requested

would have the right to try Girard even if the high court ruled that the Army had no right to turn him over to Japan.

Brownell said any sovereign nation has authority to punish local law violations by visiting troops, limited only by specific agreement with the soldier's government.

Girard's attorneys countered that "an army in the territory of a foreign nation is not subject to the criminal laws of that nation whether it entered by force or by consent."

The attorneys declared that it was "morally" wrong to draft men into the Army and ask them to lay down their lives "to protect the Constitution and government of the United States," and then deprive them of the protection of that Constitution.

Both men were transferred to the parish jail.

Also charged with burglary were Donald King, 18, of 500 Paragould drive, and Trizin Lazano, 17, of 3601 Polk Street. They admitted entering the residence of Mrs. Isabelle Cabasso at 3601½ Polk street and taking approximately $15 earlier this week. Both were transferred to the parish jail.

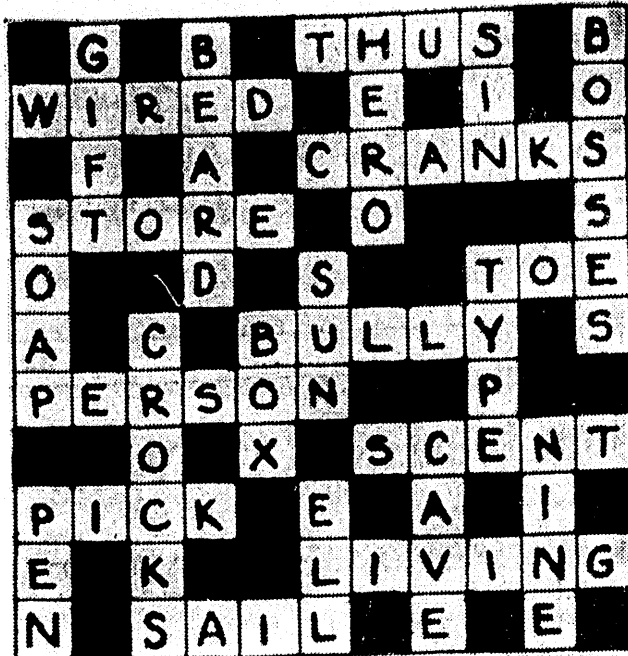

Pair Charged With Burglary

Monroe police last night charged Max Halley, 17, and Albert Mike Halley, 21, both of Rio Vista Apartment F, with the burglary of the Green Mill restaurant, 311 Walnut.

The burglary occurred between 6 p.m. Wednesday and 6 p.m. Thursday. A safe, containing approximately $278, and weighing between 450-500 pounds, was removed from the restaurant, after entrance had been gained through a back door.

Both men were transferred to the parish jail.

Also charged with burglary were Donald King, 18, of 500 Paragould drive, and Trizin Lazano, 17, of 3601 Polk Street. They admitted entering the residence of Mrs. Isabelle Cabasso at 3601½ Polk street and taking approximately $15 earlier this week. Both were transferred to the parish jail.

CRANKS a BIT irritating," since the latter are merely people with eccentric ideas. PRANKS "are liable to" INFURIATE them, rather than be "a bit irritating."

9. STORE not STORM. "Flustered" (confused) suits STORE best. "In a big STORM, nervous people may become 'frightened, not necessarily 'flustered.' During the STORM, the 'nervous people' might be doing nothing in which they could 'become flustered' e.g. asleep at night. STORY is poor.

13. BULLY not BURLY. BULLY links best with this positive clue, being definitely aggressive. A BURLY man may be quite tractable.

14. PERSON not PARSON. "You would" know DEFINITELY that a PARSON "would not mind" doing so. However, the clue words, "you would hardly expect," indicate it could happen. But, while "you would" not "EXPECT a PERSON to mind," there are those who do, at times.

15. SCENT not SCENE. One usually refers to scent SCENE, and the more costly is referred to as perfume, not SCENT. "Much money" is often "spent on the production of" a movie SCENE.

18. PICK not PACK. The clue is true of PICK, as soldier on "fatigue duty" would not ordinarily carry a PACK. Why should "soldier on fatigue duty" be carrying a PECK? PUCK is poor.

20. LIVING not LOVING. LOVING is not the sort of thing she consciously assesses in terms of whether or not it's "worth while" doing so. LIVING is more apt.

21. SAIL not SOIL. You expect a SAIL to be "soaked after a heavy rain." SOIL depends, however, on its type or condition. Parched or sandy SOIL may need much more to really "soak" it.

CLUES DOWN:
1. GIFT not LIFT. If "a girl MISTRUSTS a man, she" must know about him and to protect herself against physical harm, there should be no "hesitation" in her decision not to accept the LIFT. For LIFT, clue should read, "she DOESN'T KNOW WHETHER to trust." GIFT is most apt.

2. BEARD not BEARS. BEARS simply are or are not, GRIZZLY BEARS. A BEARD "can perhaps be DESCRIBED as grizzly (grayscale)."

4. HERO not HERD. Bearing in mind that "a stampede" IS, in itself, highly "spectacular" (dictionary: dramatic or thrilling), the wording of the clue is better suited to HERO than HERD.

9. SOAP not SOUP. The wording of the clue implies that this is something all "housewives buy" and it refers to her SOUP or SOAP. This favors SOAP as all "buy" SOAP but many make their own SOUP.

10. SUN not RUN. Note the word "welcomes" in the clue. If the weather is dull, he may "welcome" the SUN, but he can take a RUN any time he likes. Hardly FUN, if "boxer" is serious about his "training." PUN, GUN, NUN and BUN are poor.

12. CROCK not FROCKS. "Women" WEAR "their best" FROCKS and "get out their best" CROCKS.

17. NINE not NONE. Since the clue reads, "were left," only NINE is grammatically correct. NONE would read, "was left."

18. PEN not PET. Since every PET is necessarily "valued," regardless of what it is or whence it comes, the clue fits PEN. PEW would not be "bought by father" surely. PEA is vague.

PAY INCREASE
LONDON, July 5 (AP)—Members of the House of Commons have been awarded a pay increase of 500 pounds ($1,400) a year. This brings their total up to 1,750 ($4,900) through a series of allowances but makes the whole amount subject to income tax for the first time.

305th Body Is Recovered From Cameron Marsh

reau made a mistake by not warning coastal residents to evacuate the afternoon of June 26. The hurricane's center smashed into the coast at 7 a.m. CST June 27.

Weather Forecaster Ray Kraft of the New Orleans weather bureau rejected Long's statement. He said the people of Cameron "had most of Wednesday (June 26) to evacuate under good conditions."

Sheriff O. B. Carter said the people of Cameron were misled by reports carried on radio. He said stations quoted weather bulletins saying there would be no danger until the afternoon of June 27.

Meanwhile, money for Red Cross disaster work poured into Lake Charles. Officials said $50,000 had come in. Much more was needed, he said, but the amount was encouraging.

Sen. Knowland Sees Filibuster In Next Week

debate on the bill itself to run for several weeks. It takes two-thirds of the Senate—64 votes—to limit debate and halt a filibuster. Rarely has the Senate been able to muster enough votes to silence a determined opposition.

"My intention is to amend this bill if possible, but to defeat it in any event," Russell declared.

No Firm Stand

Knowland said he is not taking a stand that the Senate should necessarily accept the bill just as it came from the House. He said amendments should have full consideration, including the key one to require jury trials for persons accused of contempt of court under civil rights injunctions.

Several unsuccessful attempts were made to attach this amendment to the bill in the House. A jury trial amendment was nailed to the Senate bill by the Senate Judiciary Committee, but this version of the legislation has not been reported out.

The House bill would empower the attorney general to seek federal court injunctions in any cases where civil rights are violated or threatened. Its supporters contend a jury trial provision would weaken enforcement of the injunctions. Their position is that Southern juries would not convict.

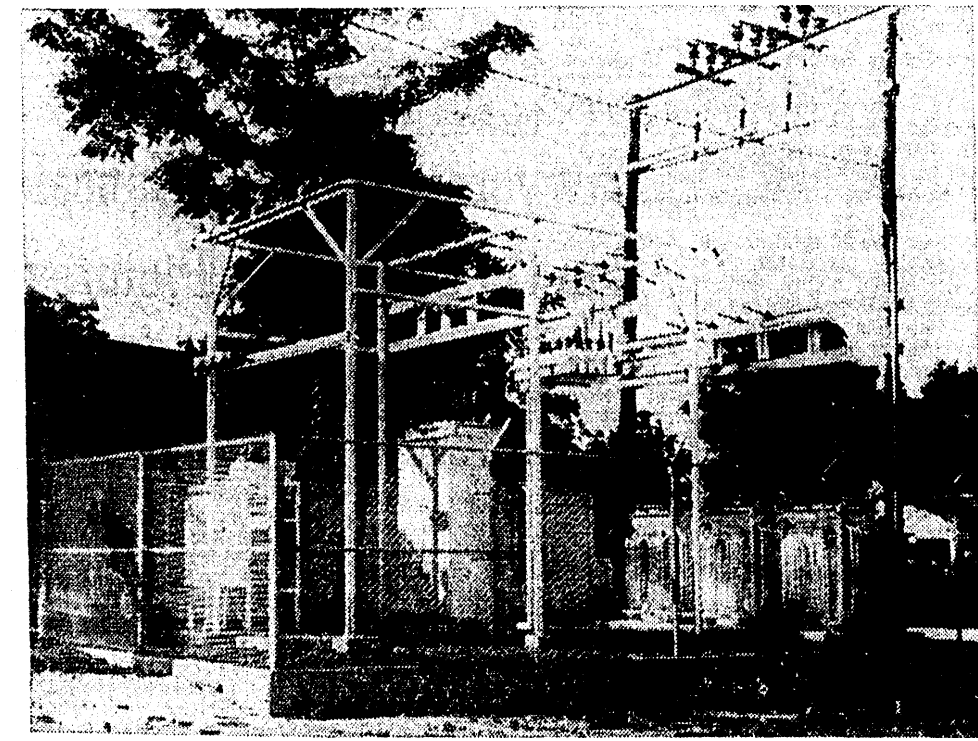

Knowland made it clear he would oppose any broad provision requiring jury trials in all cases growing out of the law. But he said he would consider a narrow application of this principle, if an amendment can be worked out.

Food On Stove Becomes Ignited

Food left cooking on a stove at 3219 Pearl street nearly turned into a near disaster last night.

Neighbors noticed smoke in the house, and realizing that the occupants were not at home, entered and found boilers on the stove on fire. They summoned firemen and engine companies 102 and 104 responded, but the fire had been extinguished before they arrived.

Company 105 was dispatched to a truck fire on highway 165 at 5:20 p.m. The motor in a pickup truck had caught fire, but it was quickly extinguished. Company 103 was called to a car fire at 5:40 p.m. The fire in the auto, located at 600 N. Third street was put out within a few minutes.

LOAD RELIEVED—A new substation put into use at noon yesterday on 22nd street will relieve the electrical load of the substation on Ninth street as the Monroe Utilities Commission continues its reworking program of the distribution system. The summer heat and the increasing number of air conditioning units sent the peak load at the plant to 29,000 kilowatts Wednesday. The capacity is 34,500 KW. IN NEW ORLEANS Coon Chairman At Annual State Fire Conference

Some 500 persons are expected to jam the Century Ballroom of the Monteleone Hotel in New Orleans, Tuesday morning for the first session of the sixth annual Arson and Fire Prevention conference.

Former Monroe Mayor John E. Coon, now Louisiana state fire marshal, is general chairman of the meeting which will run through Thursday, July 11.

A number of former Louisiana State Fire marshals are scheduled to appear on the three-day program. Two of them, Sidney S. Bowman and Campbell Palfrey, will speak on public relations within the fire service, and "The answer is still fire prevention," respectively.

Coon said yesterday, "I have had the finest cooperation from former fire marshals."

A number of high state officials are on the slate of honored guests. Some among them are Governor Earl K. Long; Shep Morrison, mayor of New Orleans; Forrest C. Pendleton, director of the Louisiana Department of Public Safety, and John (Nick) Brown, superintendent, Louisiana State Police.

Weather Officer Consultant For Civil Defense

NEW ORLEANS, July 5 (UP)—F. A. Alme, an employee of the U. S. Weather Bureau more than 31 years, will become weather consultant for the federal Civil Defense regional office at Thomasville, Ga., Aug. 1.

Alme has been forecasting weather at the New Orleans weather bureau office during most of the past 23 years. He is a graduate of Tulane University and did graduate work at California Institute of Technology.

In Thomasville, Alme will advise Civil Defense officials in connection with natural disasters such as storms, floods and tornadoes.

Parolee, 15, Is Held In Killing For Four Cents

MIDLAND, Tex., July 5 (UP)—A 15-year-old parolee from the Gatesville School for Boys was held today on a charge of killing a 68-year-old house painter for the four cents in his pockets.

Juvenile officer Bill Keel identified the boy as Robert Mayfield, who, Keel said, was paroled from the Gatesville school five months ago where he was sent for prowling cars.

Keel said Mayfield had admitted that fatal shooting of Joe R. Hampton, 68, after first sharing with Hampton a drink of gin. Mayfield got the gin and the gun while prowling cars.

The shooting took place Wednesday night. But Hampton's body wasn't found until 11:30 Thursday night. It was under a old beer warehouse where Mayfield dragged it.

It may not have been found then if Mayfield hadn't told another boy, who told his father, who called police.

White, Negro Witnesses Join In Baptisms

HOUSTON, July 5 (UP)—Three hundred white and Negro delegates to a Jehovah's Witnesses convention today symbolized their dedication by "total immersion" at a private swimming pool.

Convention manager E. V. Singer said originally separate Baptisms for the two races had been scheduled but only the one private pool was available.

"We were a little crowded in this one pool," Singer said. "It really doesn't make any difference. We are completely unsegregated."

Some 10,000 Witnesses were in the city to attend the convention sessions at the Sam Houston Coliseum. They trooped through the city, knocking on doors and invited non-converts to a mass meeting.

F. W. Franz, vice president of the Watchtower Society, told delegates they must bear "current persecution" with "Job's patience."

The convention will close Wednesday with an address by Society President N. H. Knorr.

BASTROP PAPER MILL CUTS BACK

BASTROP (Special)—A permanent shutdown of a portion of the International Paper Company mill here was announced yesterday by L. L. Saepayrouse, mill superintendent.

Between 200 and 225 employees in all capacities, including supervisory have been permanently discharged from the plant, but some will be transferred to the Louisiana Mill in Bastrop and International's mill in Pine Bluff, Ark. will be offered jobs of lesser stature and retained at the Bastrop mill.

The shutdown involved one paper making machine. The closure and simultaneous layoffs were effective yesterday, Lapeyrouse said.

A series of temporary shutdowns affected the mill earlier this year.

Homeward Rush Blamed For Rise In Death Totals

AUSTIN, July 5 (UP)—The Department of Public Safety today blamed the rush to get home from long trips for the soaring number of traffic deaths in the warning hours of the Fourth of July holiday.

"The DPS said 12 persons were killed in traffic mishaps, two were reported in the homicide and suicide category and eight died in non-traffic accidents, five of which were drownings. The traffic total put Texas at the top of the list for highway deaths."

"The traffic accident rate was increased by the fact that our citizens were attempting to take longer trips during a holiday period that lasted only one day," Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the DPS, said. "This is evidenced by the fact that most of the accidents occurred in the afternoon when motorists were returning to their homes."

"Accidents involving only one vehicle added to the greatest number of fatal accidents indicating speed too great for conditions," he said.

Ike Little Stiff After Horseback Ride On Fourth

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 5 (UP)—President Eisenhower, who may have been a little stiff from his horseback ride yesterday, stayed out of the saddle today and did all of his riding on a golf cart.

He also witnessed a near accident between two other cars as he arrived at Gettysburg Country club for an afternoon round of golf with two neighbors and a weekend guest. But Eisenhower never was in danger himself.

He normally golfs here in the early morning and his absence from the links this morning gave rise to speculation that he was feeling the effects of his horseback ride yesterday.

No Sign Of Stiffness

If so, he showed no signs of the stiffness this afternoon. He did, however, walk a bit at the start of the game, possibly to limber up, before mounting his golf cart.

Just before he arrived at the course, state police halted a car on the highway to permit the President's limousine to turn into the club entrance. A second car pulled over the hill and screeched to a stop behind the first car just as the President's car was pulling into the drive.

There was no damage to either car and police did not file an accident report.

Double Funeral Likely For Pair Killed In Crash

NEW YORK, July 5 (AP)—A double funeral appeared likely today for starlet Judy Tyler and her husband, television actor Gregory Lafayette. Both were killed Wednesday in a Wyoming automobile collision.

The Frank E. Campbell Funeral Church said the bodies would be flown east and that there probably would be a double service in the church at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Eisenhower golfed with George E. Allen and Brig. Gen. Arthur S. Nevins, his Gettysburg neighbors, and H. B. Alton Jones, a Cities Service executive from New York City. Jones and his wife arrived at the farm today for a weekend as guests of the Eisenhowers.

As the foursome teed off, Allen dribbled his drive down the fairway, much to the amusement of the President who called out "ship ahoy."

Cools Heels In Arizona Jail

TUCSON, Ariz., July 5 (UP)—A young Texan, whooping it up on a July 4 bender, was cooling his heels in the city jail today after shoving the widow of the late president of Mexico around in her hotel room Thursday.

William L. Hollis, 19, Rosenberg Tex., was charged with aggravated assault following his "wrong entry" into the room of Maria T. Obregon at the Sands hotel here.

"I was looking for my room... I was drunk... that's all I remember," said Hollis. His room was the one next to Mrs. Obregon's, who was first lady of Mexico when her late husband, Gen. Alvarado Obregon was president. Her son, Alvarado Obregon Jr., is governor of the Mexican state of Sonora.

Another son, Francisco Obregon, heard his mother and sister, Mrs. Mona de Vargas, cry out that a man was in their room. He forced Hollis out of the room, and called police.

Mrs. Obregon suffered minor bruises and scratches in her efforts to force Hollis from her room.

Fire, Explosion Toll Reaches 2

PAMPA, Tex., July 5 (UP)—The death toll from an explosion and fire in two fuel tanks climbed today to two.

Dearl Newman, 12, was killed outright. His cousin, Truman Frank (Buster) Newman, 14, died at 2 a. m. in a hospital.

Hoad Easily Cops Wimbledon Crown

By TOM OCHILTREE

WIMBLEDON, England, July 5 (AP)—Australia's Lew Hoad swept his second straight Wimbledon Tennis Championship today by crushing his Davis Cup teammate, Ashley Cooper, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2, in the shortest and most one-sided men's final ever in this historic tournament.

Some 17,000 fans packed around the famed center court watched in amazement as the 22-year-old Aussie ace blazed his 20-year-old rival off the court in just 55 minutes. The crowd included Prince Phillip and the Duchess of Kent.

The top-seeded Hoad thus became the first man to capture two successive Wimbledon singles crowns since American's Don Rudge, another killing, bitter, turned the trick in 1937 and 1938.

Hoad's play was almost unbelievable. He dropped his service only twice, and scored with blazing service aces whenever he seemed to feel the urge. And once in the final set his backhand drive was so hard it knocked the racket from Cooper's hand and sent him sprawling.

Low ran up 3-1 and 5-2 leads in the first set, 4-1 in the second, and after trailing for the first time, 2-1, in the third set, he ran out four straight games for the match. Hoad required only 15 minutes to win the second set.

Shut out in the men's final, American stars will have their chance at the spotlight tomorrow in the closing four championships. The feature of the day will be the all-American women's singles final match between Althea Gibson, 20-year-old pride of Harlem, and Darlene Hard, 21-year-old blonde from Montebello, Calif.

Gibson and Miss Hard will make three appearances before royalty. They teamed to gain the doubles final and with Australian partners, moved into the mixed doubles final. Veterans Gardner Mulvey and Budge Patty entered the men's doubles final.

The Gibson-Hard team started off by routing the young South African pair of Sandra Reynolds and Renee Schuurman, 6-2, 6-2, in weight at 116. Joe Price, Miquel, Irisher, Seaneen, The Searcher and Warsaw Lad.

Round Table has won three stakes at the meeting. He ran third in the Kentucky Derby. Kerr is shopping for another jockey to ride Bobby Brocato in the Gold Cup.

Miss Hard and left-handed Mervyn Rose of Australia won their mixed doubles semifinal from Mrs. Long and Luis Ayala, Chile, 6-3, 6-3. Althea and Neale Fraser, Australia, first completed a postponed match, winning two games for a 10-8, 9-7 quarter-final triumph over Edda Buding, Germany, and Nareth Kumar, India.

Then the Gibson-Fraser combination eliminated Australia's M. Hellyer and Roy Emerson, 6-4, 6-4, in the semifinals.

Mulvey, 42, of Denver, and Patty, 38, of Los Angeles, and Paris beat Roger Becker, Britain and Bob Howe, Australia, 9-7, 7-5, 6-3. They will meet Head and Fraser, the Aussie Cup combination in the final.

Oriole Errors Help Red Sox Grab 7-5 Win

BOSTON, July 5 (UP)—The Boston Red Sox took advantage of a misfired Baltimore infield judgment play to rally three runs in the sixth inning and defeated the Orioles, 7-5, tonight before 26,091.

Baltimore held a 4-3 lead on a four-run fourth inning going into the home stretch when Frankie Malone beat out an infield single to lead off and he stole second as Ted Lepcio struck out. When Baltimore shortstop Jim Bredeweser elected to go to third on Sammy White's grounder, Malone beat the throw, leaving runners on first and third.

Dick Gernert, batting for starting pitcher Mike Fioresi, beat out an infield hit along the third baseline, scoring Malone. Jimmy Piersall dropped a single into center, leading the bases and Billy Klaus, who had homered in the first inning, hit a sacrifice fly to left, scoring White. Ted Williams doubled home Gernert to complete the rally.

All star pitcher Billy Loes, a nine-game winner seeking his eighth straight victory, was the victim of the Red Sox' surge and it cost him his fourth loss.

Baltimore's lineup: 1. Lepcio, 2b; 2. Gernert, 3b; 3. White, 1b; 4. Piersall, cf; 5. Williams, rf; 6. Fioresi, p; 7. Bredeweser, ss; 8. Klaus, lf; 9. Malone, c.

Boston's lineup: 1. Malone, 1b; 2. Piersall, cf; 3. Williams, rf; 4. White, 1b; 5. Gernert, 3b; 6. Lepcio, 2b; 7. Fioresi, p; 8. Klaus, lf; 9. Bredeweser, ss.

Washington, July 5 (UP)—The Library of Congress recommended today that organized baseball be placed under the anti-trust laws and barred from selling or drafting players without their consent.

Spencer M. Beresford, of the library's American Law division, also proposed ban on bonuses for new players. He further suggested that the major leagues set a maximum salary for players. The present minimum is $6,000 a year.

Beresford prepared his report at the request of Sen. Gordon Allott (R-Colo.). The library frequently prepares reports for members of Congress, who use them to bolster their stand on legislation and other issues.

A House anti-monopoly subcommittee, headed by Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.), is scheduled to resume hearings July 17 on various proposals for bringing baseball under the anti-trust laws, or exempting it from the statutes.

Allott said he had not yet reached a decision on the baseball problem but that he felt the sport could neither be completely

8 Horses Due To Race For Cinema Cash

INGLEWOOD, Calif., July 5 (AP)—Eight 3-year-olds today were entered in the $45,000 Cinema Handicap at Hollywood Park tomorrow and the solid favorite, Round Table, got a new rider in a jockey shakeup by owner Travis M. Kerr.

Iked over the ride jockey George Taniguchi gave his older star, Bobby Brocato, in the American Handicap yesterday. Kerr ousted him as his regular rider and engaged Willie Shoemaker, the leading jockey at the meeting.

Shoemaker is now booked to ride Round Table in the $100,000 added Westerner for 3-year-olds July 20, and, if Round Table runs in the $100,000 added Gold Cup Handicap July 13.

Bobby Brocato, who for the third time raced far out of the money yesterday, was in a close jam going into the first turn. Later he made a run at the leader, Find, but faded back and finished next to last in the field of nine horses.

Round Table will carry 130 pounds in the Cinema at a mile and one-eighth. Only one other 3-year-old, Hill Prince, who finished third in the 1950 Gold Cup, has carried such weight at a Hollywood Park meeting.

Entered against Round Table were Lightning Jack, next high weight at 116; Joe Price, Miquel, Irisher, Seaneen, The Searcher and Warsaw Lad.

Round Table has won three stakes at the meeting. He ran third in the Kentucky Derby. Kerr is shopping for another jockey to ride Bobby Brocato in the Gold Cup.

Make Pairings In Dixie Loop National Play

CHARLESTON, S. C., July 5 (UP)—The official pairings of the Dixie Boys Dixie World Series to be held at Columbia, Miss., Aug. 12-17, were announced here today by Harry Jones, commissioner of the program.

J. Newton Jones, vice president of the program from Natchez, Miss., made the pairings as follows:

Florida winner vs. Louisiana winner; Highwood, Ill. vs. Miss. champions; south Boston, Va. vs. South Carolina winner and Columbus, Miss. (host city) vs. Georgia-Alabama champions.

Greenville, S. C. won the Dixie tournament last year at Alexandria, La. and will again be seeking a berth in the big tournament but must advance through the tough south Carolina eliminations of eight districts composed of 75 leagues.

Giants Recall Bressoud, Ship Andre Rodgers

NEW YORK, July 5 (AP)—The New York Giants today recalled shortstop Eddie Bressoud from their Minneapolis farm club of the American Association and optioned shortstop Andre Rodgers to the same club.

Rodgers, former cricket player from the Bahamas, was batting .244 for the Giants. Bressoud came up to the Giants in mid-season last year and was with the club in the spring training this year.

Asks Pro Baseball Be Made Subject To Anti-Trust Law

BOB SOUNDS OFF

Baseball's Moguls Gossip Too Much, Declares Feller

SAN FRANCISCO, July 5 (UP)—Bob Feller today blasted "loud mouthed moguls" who talk about changing their major league franchises, thereby "hurting attendance at home and in the minors."

"I'm all in favor of any shifts which can help baseball, but I think that the announcements and publicity made by loud mouth moguls in the middle of the season is a real bush way of doing business," the former Cleveland pitching star declared.

Feller, who recently told the congressional committee investigating baseball that club owners are "arrogant," uncorked his latest blast after arriving here to conduct a baseball clinic.

Feller, who has been elected president of the players association for two years, also said that

Yankee Oarsmen Matched Today In Henley Final

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, Eng., July 5 (UP)—Cornell's intercollegiate rowing champions turned back the strong Krasnoe Zarnia eight of Russia today while Yale defeated Queens College to set up an all-American final in the grand challenge cup of the Royal Henley Regatta.

Princeton's undefeated lightweight crew swept into the finals in defense of the Thames challenge cup but a third American entry, single sculler Tom McDonough of Philadelphia, was eliminated.

Soviet oarsmen qualified for three of the six finals on the fourth and final day of the regatta tomorrow with one semifinal victory over Poland in the finals of the diamond skulls and a bye into the double skulls final.

Cornell, out to avenge its defeat by Yale in the Olympic qualifying regatta last year, defeated the Russian eight by a length in the record time of 6:30.

National Stock Car Race Will Be Rescheduled

ELKHART LAKE, Wis., July 5 (AP)—The 250-mile NASCAR Grand National Stock Car Race, scheduled for July 28 at Road America, near here, has been postponed to avoid conflict in schedule, officials announced today. No new date has been set as yet.

The next event on Road America will be the Road America 500 Sports Car Classic Sunday, Sept. 8, sponsored by the Sports Car Club of America. The 2-hour races on Saturday, Sept. 7, will precede the 500.

Pick Herb Flam To Win Renewal Of Nassau Bowl

GLEN COVE, N. Y., July 5 (AP)—Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., the No. 2 ranked player in United States, is top seeded in the Nassau Bowl Invitation Tennis Tournament to be resumed after a three-year lapse, July 9-14 at the Nassau Country Club.

Dick Savitt of New York, Eddie Moylan of Trenton, N. J., and Gilbert Shea of Los Angeles are other seeded players. Mike Green, Miami and three Canadians—Don Fontana, Paul Willey and Vern Eardman—will compete.

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, July 5 (AP)—Arthur D'Arcy Locke, nicknamed "Bobby" after golfer's Emperor Jones, won his fourth British Open championship today on St. Andrews Old Course with 279 strokes, a borrowed driver and a 25-year-old putter.

The great Locke, striding up the fairways wearing plus-fours, a necktie and snow white shoes, stockings and shirt, looked like a painting from the 1920s, the golden age of sport.

He straddled the field like the American trinity of Jones, Hagen and Sarazen used to do, and almost from the first gun of today's shooting the huge, large-stomached South African was the man of the day.

Locke, 39, was three strokes better than defending champion Peter Thomson of Australia and four strokes better than Eric Brown, Scotland.

Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., America's best player in a British Open since Ben Hogan won at Carnoustie four years ago, was home with 289 strokes; after a final 72. Middlecoff finished in 14th place. Frank Stranahan, the other American who played the last day, also had a final 72 for a 281 total.

The Locke victory brought an end to the Thomson Age. Thomson had won three British Opens in a row and actually had many old Scots saying it looked like nobody but Thomson ever would win again.

Locke, a master of the short game, not only ended Thomson's reign, but he set a score that no one else has ever equalled in the British Open.

His 279 over the backbreaking 6,996-yard, par 36-36-72 St. Andrews Old Course equalled the championship record Locke himself had established at Troon in 1950. His rounds of 69-72-68-70 were two strokes better than the best previous score ever made in an open championship on the Old Course. Thomson had set the 281 mark in his 1955 victory.

Locke has been playing golf in Britain since 1936 when he came to St. Andrews from Johannesburg as a boy, only to lose in the first round of the British Amateur.

He won the British Open Championship in 1949, 1950 and 1952 and was one of the very few golfers good enough to go to the United States and play head-to-head golf with the Americans.

Swoon's Son, Fabius Head Wright Field

CHICAGO, July 5 (UP)—Swoon's Son, topweighted at 130 pounds, will spot five to Fabius tomorrow when the two old rivals go against six other thoroughbreds as strong favorites in the $50,000 added Warren Wright Memorial Handicap at Arlington Park.

The race would be a nice one for Calumet Farm's Fabius to win. It is named for the late owner of the establishment, Calumet, however, has been represented in the Wright only once before when Trenton ran seventh in 1955.

Bill Hartack, the nation's leading jockey with 174 winners, including 28 at Arlington, will ride Fabius. Dave Erb will be aboard E. Gay Drake's Swoon's Son, who never has lost a race at Arlington and took the Wright last year as a 3-year-old.

The seven furlongs event, grossing $55,250, if all eight start, will net $32,200 to the winner.

Fabius, 1956 Preakness winner has tangled with Swoon's Son four times in the past but never came close to heading him to the wire, finishing fourth in the field each time.

Given a fast strip, observers think the Wright winner could crack the track record of 1:22 for the seven furlongs.

Swoon's Son won all three stakes he started in this year before finishing third in his last outing, the Balmoral Handicap on June 15. Altogether, he has taken 20 of 29 races and earned $598,930.

Fabius has gone to the post seven times this year, registering two victories, a second and a third. Others in the field are Hasty House Farm's mud-loving Sea O Erin, Rothmore Farm's Munchausen, Spring Hill farm's I Appeal, Henry D. Magglio's Tussle Patch and Reverie Knoll Farm's Snake Screen.

'Softball Week' Set For Texans

AUSTIN, July 5 (UP)—Gov. Price Daniel today designated July 8-14 a "Softball Week" in Texas, in honor of the women's invitation softball tournament at Houston, to be held July 13-14, "and in recognition of the pleasure and benefit derived from this great American sport."

Baker Aims For Third Campaign With Redskins

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—Sam (The Foot) Baker, the National Football League's field goal leader in 1956, signed today for his third year with the Washington Redskins.

Baker, who punted but never place kicked before last season, booted 17 three-pointers in 25 attempts. His longest sailed 49 yards.

The 26-year-old fullback played college football at Oregon State. He lives now at Tacoma, Wash.

Newsom, who has been entering cars for other drivers, plans to drive for the first time tomorrow. (Staff photo by Scotty Maxwell)

British Choose Ten Ryder Cup Team Members

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, July 5 (UP)—The British Professional Golfers Association today named nine of the 10 men who'll face the U. S. Ryder Cup team at Lindrick in October with veteran Dai Rees of Wales listed as probable playing captain.

The 10th place on the team will go to the winner of the upcoming British Match play championship unless the winner is one of the nine already named. In that event, Peter Mills of England takes the remaining place.

The U. S. has beaten Britain in 10 of the 12 Ryder Cup matches played so far.

Two players who lost their cup berths after the 1953 defeat at Wentworth, Eng.—Bernard Hunt and Peter Allis of England—regained their places.

The other six named in addition to Rees, partly on their showing in the British Open, were Eric Brown of Scotland, Harry Weismann, Max Faulkner, and Ken Bousfield of England, Harry Bradshaw and Christy O'Connor of Ireland.

NBA Planning To Lift Crown Held By Moore

DETROIT, July 5 (UP)—Archie Moore's light heavyweight crown will be lifted from his brow Sunday, an associate of National Boxing Association President Floyd Stevens said today.

Moore has been given numerous extensions to defend his title which he hasn't proffered since June, 1956 when he whipped Yolande Pompey.

"We just received another wire from Charley Johnston, Archie's manager, today," said Bill Matney, secretary of the Michigan Boxing Commission of which Stevens also is president.

"Johnston's wire was the same as the one Moore sent about a month and a half ago complaining that they were having trouble negotiating for a defense. Johnston mentioned the International Boxing Club's court action and a few other reasons," Matney said.

"But as of Sunday, there isn't any light heavyweight champion according to the NBA edict. However, Archie was given until August to defend by the World Boxing Commission which includes Europe and Britain," Matney said.

Harney, Venturi Continue Lead In Canadian Tourney

ST. DOROTHEE, Que., July 5 months, shot the best round of the (UP)—Paul Harney and Ken Venturi, two of the game's hottest swingmen, continued their sub-par scoring to share the halfway lead with Bill Bromley, Dallas, Tex., in the $29,000 Labatt Open golf championship today with six under par 138.

Harney, 27, Bolton, Mass., put together identical rounds of 69 over the picturesque, 6,645-yard Islesmere course for his 138. Venturi, San Francisco, the 27-year-old newcomer to the circuit, shot a two-under-70 today to go with his opening-round 68.

But their fine shooting was only one shot better than another pair of pros who came in with 139's—little Joe Conrad, the former airman from San Antonio, Tex., and lanky Al Bessellink of Grossinger's, N. Y. Conrad carded 70 today after a first round 69 while Bessellink was 70-69.

Two strokes off the pace was huge George Bayer, the game's longest hitter from Los Angeles with 68-72-140 and Leo Bizzetti, St. Paul, 69-71-140, and Paul O'Leary, Culver City, Calif., who fired his second successive 140. CAMP WHITTINGTON, Japan, July 5 (AP)—Illinois soldier William S. Girard solemnized his marriage to a Japanese girl in a nearly empty church today.

Then he celebrated on chicken and champagne with his bride.

Rites Are Set For Victim Of Strangulation

A 60-year-old Monroe woman strangled herself to death with an electric cord early yesterday morning when she tried to jump from a step ladder in an attempt to end her life by hanging.

Mrs. Annie B. Cain, 6022 Jackson St., died as a result of "suicide by strangulation," according to Ouachita Parish Coroner J. T. French.

Mrs. Cain was reported to have jumped the electric cord—similar to the type used on vacuum cleaners—over a door facing placing opposite end of the loop about her neck. With the cord twisted about her neck, she apparently planned to jump from a low step ladder, however, her body was found in an upright position with the feet resting on the third step of the ladder.

The dead woman was found about 7:30 a.m. by Mrs. Margaret S. Daniels, who lives in the upstairs apartment of the same address on Jackson street.

There were no witnesses, but the dead woman left a note mentioning her illness and "other causes for extreme depression." The note did not state any plans for suicide.

Funeral services are scheduled for 3 p.m. today at the First Methodist Church of Delhi with the Rev. Ira Love officiating.

Mrs. Cain was a member of the First Methodist Church of Monroe.

Burial will be in the Masonic Cemetery of Delhi under the direction of Hall Funeral Home of Monroe.

The body will lie in state at the Hall Funeral Home Chapel in Monroe until 1 p.m.

Survivors are her mother, Mrs. Minnie Hall, and one brother, W. T. Hall, both of Delhi.

Pallbearers will be Truman Green, Roy Snider, Bob Anderson, Eugene Koutzky, Russell Williams and James Ware.

Chinese Communists Hail Purge Of Soviet Stalinists

TOKYO, July 5 (UP)—The Chinese Communist party today hailed the purge of Soviet Stalinists in a cable sent to the high-ranking Khrushchev faction in the Kremlin.

Radio Peiping broadcast details of a cable from the Chinese party central committee expressing complete agreement with the ouster of the "anti-party" group headed by Georgi Malenkov, Vyacheslav Molotov and Lazar Kaganovich.

The cable referred to "Molotov and the others" rather than mentioning them by name.

Confident Of Unity
The message said that the Communist leaders in Peiping were "confident" that the ousters would strengthen the "unity" of the Communist party.

In a sense, the ousters were a

Child Killed By Runaway Auto In Funeral Group

CHICAGO, July 5 (UP)—A funeral procession car jumped a curb and plowed into a group of mourners today, killing a little girl and injuring 11 other persons.

The car's driver, Mrs. Isabel Ransom, 45, became hysterical after the accident. She finally calmed down enough to explain that the car went out of control after a passenger accidentally stepped on the gas pedal while getting in.

Orleans Red Cross Collects $45,288 For Aid

NEW ORLEANS, July 5 (AP)—The New Orleans chapter of the American Red Cross said today it has received a total of $45,288 for relief of the victims of Hurricane Audrey.

The Red Cross estimated it has given mass care to over 54,000 victims of the storm in Louisiana and Texas. Officials also estimated 1,314 Louisiana homes were destroyed, 17 in Texas, and another 3,938 damaged in Louisiana, 15,225 in Texas.

the former Haru (Candy) Sueyama, and returned under military police guard to his barracks.

The Jan. 30 fatal shooting of a Japanese woman on a firing range—for which the Ottawa, Ill., soldier faces a Japanese trial or a court-martial—cast a pall on the festivities. The case has precipitated a drive in Congress to end foreign trials of U.S. servicemen.

Only Ten There
Only 10 people, including the bride and groom, an organist and a chaplain, Maj. Harry Rickard, were permitted to enter the steeply pitched white chapel for Methodist rites solemnizing Girard's July 1 civil marriage.

The best man, a military police sergeant, doubled as Girard's guard during the 10-minute ceremony. The only other invited guests were the best man's and chaplain's wives, Candy's maid of honor and Girard's Army legal adviser.

About 80 persons stood outside ropes placed at the front of the church. They included American and Japanese reporters and photographers, the camp provost marshal, unarmed military policeman and five Army public information officers.

Repeat Lord's Prayer
After the couple had exchanged rings and been pronounced husband and wife, they knelt and repeated "The Lord's Prayer" with Chaplain Rickard, of Winchester, Va. Then Girard kissed his wife. "He didn't seem at all nervous," commented the chaplain afterward.

Girard, wearing his regular Army summer khaki uniform with no necktie, and Candy, in a rented pink-and-white flowered kimono with a white veil, then walked from the chapel to a battery of microphones.

"This is a very happy event. I only wish my mother and brother were here," Girard said. Candy, her eyes wet, managed a "Thank You, very much."

Best Man
Girard's best man and guard was Sgt. Gilbert Saylor of New Market, Va., who has invited the couple to his home nightly for more than a month, encouraging Girard to forget his troubles for a few brief hours.

For the wedding celebration, Saylor and his wife came through with chicken, gravy and biscuits—Girard's favorites—champagne and a huge, tiered wedding cake.

Girard joked with newsmen invited to the party, saying, "You guys may have a hard job, but it's just as hard getting away from you."

He added later, "Just like Maj. Levin—his legal adviser—told you today, I ain't going to talk about this case until we're in court."

Hildy Up For Final Adoption Next Monday

MIAMI, Fla., July 5 (AP)—The state of Massachusetts and Hildy McCoy's natural mother today filed notice they will be represented at Circuit Court proceedings Monday in which Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ellis will seek to adopt the freckle-faced 6-year-old.

The Jewish couple have waged a long fight to retain custody of Hildy, whom they have reared almost since her birth to a Catholic mother.

The Florida State Welfare Board is reported by the Miami Herald to have recommended the adoption and to have found that the Ellises are "good and worthy people" who will not allow religious barriers to interfere with Hildy's welfare.

The natural mother, Mrs. Marjorie McCoy Doherty of Hingham, Mass., wants her daughter adopted by a Catholic family. The state of Massachusetts is seeking to retain jurisdiction of the case under an adoption petition on file in Boston.

Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida six weeks ago declined to grant a Massachusetts request that the Ellises be extradited to face a kidnapping charge under a state law requiring adopted children to be reared where practically in the faith of their real parents.

Boston welfare officials said Hildy's mother was deceived by the Jewish couple. The Ellises have denied the allegation.

Mrs. Doherty and the state of Massachusetts will be represented by Miami attorney Robert Asti.

Hildy, who has been shielded from knowing much about the controversy which has surrounded her, is expected to appear in court Monday with the Ellises under Circuit Judge John Prunty's policy of having children attend adoption proceedings involving them.

15 Persons Have Been Lost In Area Swimming Mishaps

In case you plan a swimming party over the weekend, be careful or else you'll end up as No. 16 on this season's Northeast Louisiana drowning list.

Fifteen persons have drowned in Northeast Louisiana thus far this outdoor season, a Morning World survey has revealed.

Eight of the 15 died during the spring season with a total of seven occurring since June 1st. The drownings have taken place in the Ouachita river, ponds, lakes and bays.

None have occurred where there was supervised swimming and most were suffered by poor swimmers. The ages of the victims range from one to almost 50.

In Many Places
They occurred on fishing trips, swimming parties and where groups of youngsters were playing in water. One lot toppled from a pier. Another fell in a well. A horse carried a Negro to his death.

Some brought on gallant rescue attempts. Others died in quiet

Alcorn Negro Professor In New Controversy

HAZLEHURST, Miss., July 5 (AP)—Prof. Clennon King, controversial Alcorn A&M College professor, tonight removed the lock from the door of the church he has been serving here despite what he said were warnings he might be jailed.

King claims the presiding elder of the Wesley Chapel African Methodist Episcopal Church has expelled him as pastor on false charges of mis-use of money. He said the elder, J. D. Watkins of Brookhaven, wants to install his brother, the Rev. Alston Watkins of Bude, as pastor.

King said he telephoned police and was told that if he did remove the lock and a warrant were sworn out, he would be arrested.

"I have just removed the lock," he told reporters. "I'm waiting now to see what is done."

King said he intends to preach in the church Sunday regardless of any steps to replace him.

He wrote Bishop R. R. Wright Jr. of New Orleans to set aside "this expulsion that I may peacefully continue in the pastorate here."

King wrote a series of pro-segregation newspaper articles early this year which set off a student boycott among students of Alcorn A&M where he is history professor. The boycott threatened to close the all-Negro state-supported school.

ROCKET FIRED IN MANITOBA FALLS BACK TO EARTH; NO ONE INJURED

FORT CHURCHILL, Man., July 5 (UP)—A U. S. rocket fired here today crashed and exploded within two minutes only 700 yards from its launching site.

No one was reported injured but acid fumes spouting from the wreckage sent the men who fired the "Aerobee-Hi" rocket racing for the safety of a concrete blockhouse.

The rocket slammed into the ground with shattering force at the Canadian Army testing grounds, 600 miles north of Winnipeg.

Col. L. G. Smith of the U. S. Ordnance Corps issued a press release saying that the flight was "unsuccessful." He said a premature burnout apparently had occurred 25 seconds after the rocket was fired.

Convicts Send $2,000 To Aid Hurricane's Victims

ANGOLA, La., July 5 (AP)—Angola convicts, most of whom get only two cents an hour for their work on the sprawling prison farm, today donated some $2,000 to help hurricane-devastated Cameron Parish.

Warden Maurice Sigler said the check probably would be given to Dr. Cecil Clark, only doctor in the parish, who worked around the clock treating the injured although his wife and three children were missing. His wife later was rescued.

"The men don't want anything taken out for expenses," he said, explaining the money would go directly to the parish, not to a relief organization.

Hosting the affair were Mrs. A. B. Kessler, Mr. W. E. Whetstone, Mrs. Lester E. Higgins, Mrs. H. M. Chatham and Mrs. J. M. Harrell.

Magnolias, in a long silver boat, graced the service board and the side table bearing the guest register. Also on the service table

Career Women Are Entertained At Alfresco Buffet

Two career women of the Dodson-Winnfield area were feted during the week with a garden buffet, upon completion of their twentieth year of service with the welfare department.

Held in the gardens of the Henry Holstead home in Winnfield, Mrs. Hannah P. Dickerson with Mrs. Bertha Stovall of Dodson, were the honored guests. The lovely setting needed no additional decorations to please the eye. A skit depicting the honorees at intervals of service and at retirement was presented. The honorees were gifted with silver composites, engraved with the years 1937-1957. Especially noted were Mrs. M. E. Parker, state commissioner, and Miss Hilda Simon Field, representative.

Among those present, besides those already named, were Ovey Trahan, James Womack, Troy Smith, Mrs. Warren Curry, Juanita Wood, Marcia Mercer, Grace Melton, Delores Knight, Grace McMurray, Macey Hawthorn, Betty Brunning, Charlyne Lanaton, Willie Pearl Swiley, Elizabeth Oglesby, Long, Beverly Martin, the Rev. Bridal Shower Fetes Miss Mary Meeks As Quintet Of Hostesses Entertain OAK GROVE — Miss Mary Ellen Meeks, bride-elect of Olyn Dean Malone, was honored with a bridal shower in the Home Economics department.

White stock and red carnations formed the centerpiece for the service table, flanked by candelabra burning white tapers. Draped in white linen, the service board also held the punch bowl and containers of little individual cakes.

On the bride's table, laid with cut-work linen, a miniature wedding scene was arranged. The gift tables were decorated with embossed wedding bells and silver bowls of fresh fruit, circled with wreaths of Japanese holly.

Miss Meeks was lovely in a pink polished cotton, complemented by her gift corsage of white Colorado carnations. Mrs. Meeks, mother of the honoree, wore pink lace over dusty rose and also a white corsage.

Mrs. W. C. Edwards, Mrs. J. P. Littlefield, Mrs. Herman Lightsey and Mrs. A. C. Friday were in the receiving line with the honoree and her mother, to receive the fifty guests who called.

Mrs. C. E. Major invited the guests to register in the bride's book, and Mrs. J. H. Lightsey poured. At the cake table were Mrs. W. C. Edwards and Mrs. A. C. Friday. The gift tables were presided over by Mrs. Edwards.

The gift of the hostesses to Miss Meeks was a silver covered casket.

The Friendly Circle of the First Baptist Church of Jonesville met Thursday in the home of Mrs. Walter White.

Following the regular business session, Mrs. R. W. Bennett presented a program titled, "Friendship," followed by silent prayer in memory of the late Mrs. W. F. Croon.

Verses were read, for the devotional, pertaining to friendship. Those taking part in the discussion brought out some thoughts on, "The Basis of Friendship," "Biblical Friendships," "Qualities of Christian Friendship," and "When Friendship is Needed."

The program was closed with prayer by Mrs. L. Smith. Those present included, Mrs. C. E. Foster, Mrs. R. W. Bennett, Mrs. O. Farley, Mrs. Joe S. Maxwell, Mrs. Walter White, Mrs. L. Smith, and Mrs. S. Smith.

Dinner Party And Dessert Surprise For W. E. Chaney's

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Chaney and daughter, Jimmie Nell, were guests of honor Friday evening when they were entertained at a dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. John M. Parker of West Monroe.

An assortment of summer blossoms were used throughout the living room and an arrangement of yellow blooms centered the delicate green linen cloth on the dining table.

Seated guests included Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hislop, Sr., Miss Millie Hislop, Roy Nash, Miss Jimmie Nell Chaney and Eddie Hislop.

After the dinner, Miss Faye Parker and Eddie Hislop were hosts at a surprise party for Miss Chaney at her home.

Dessert refreshments were served to the Misses Anna Rose Camp, Patsy Dawn, Mary Louise Danna, Carole Eady and Jo Ann Gaster. Also to Don Alexander, Eddie Pohlman, Roy Nash, Ronnie Alexander, Leo Bondurant and Mike Boggis.

Newcomer Feted At Luncheon In Pate Home

The Barney Pate home on Frances Avenue was the setting, yesterday, for a bridge luncheon honoring Mrs. Fred Pitt. The feted guest is a newcomer to Monroe, having moved here from Seminole, Ok.

The reception rooms were colorful with a lavish display of summer blooms, which were also used in miniature arrangements on the luncheon tables. Bridge was played for the afternoon.

Seated were Mrs. J. D. Wink, Mrs. Harry Dixon, Mrs. Lloyd Church, Mrs. Henry Mayo, Jr., Mrs. Ruffin "Idwell, Mrs. Robert Bright, the honoree and hostess.

Miss Coy Theus Complimented At Afternoon Party

Yesterday afternoon, the popular bride-elect, Miss Coy Theus, was complimented with a kitchen shower, with Mrs. Gordon Cummings and her daughter, Miss Caroline Cummings, as hostesses.

The recreation room of the Cummings home, transformed into a kitchen for the occasion, was ornamented with summer blossoms.

Those calling between the appointed hours were: Miss Lynn Theus, Miss Sallie Oliver, Miss Ila Mae Jones, Miss Eleanor Cammack, Miss Janet Mahaffey, Miss Linda Hornbeak, Miss Ashley Hamilton, Miss Janice Futrell, Miss Martha Kay Williams, Miss Helen Theus, Miss Fran Guthrie, Mrs. Leland Sims, Miss Gaye Olcott, Miss Louise Doernberg, Miss Marianna Altick, Miss Luada Burnett, Miss Dixie Johnson, Miss Kay McCune, Miss Ann Jarrell, Miss Jane Worthen, Miss Betty Scott, and Miss Joy Sutton.

Birthday Party At Oak Grove For B. Wasson

A festive occasion for the young set was the eighth birthday party of Billy Wasson, held in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Wasson, in Oak Grove, the affair was given an Independence Day decor.

Miniature American flags were given as favors to the twenty-five friends who joined in the many games played.

The birthday cake was red, white and blue, and was centered with an American flag, with dangles around it. Floral decorations carried out the color theme in the living room.

Ice cream, fruit punch, and individual cakes with a flag in the center, were served to the guests by the honoree's mother.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Child Afraid After Witnessing Mother's Mental Breakdown

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

There are times all of us forget that there are problems much more serious than the usual ones of eating behavior, sleeping, etc., which we encounter daily. Blows to a child's security threaten not only his well-being but that of the parents.

Mrs. J. A. S. writes, "Nine months ago when my twins were nine months old, I had a nervous breakdown. My husband was in the service at the time and I was alone with our five children, the oldest five years old."

"I was hospitalized for a few months and the children put in foster homes. We have been bringing the children home for weeks since my release from the hospital."

She's Afraid

"Our oldest girl, was present when I became deranged and the police came and took me away. This is still as vivid in her mind as if it had just happened. She is afraid of me and when we are alone together she questions me about this."

"The whole thing was a bad blow to the family but now it is past and how can I assure her that things are better? How can I help her to forget or to understand? Perhaps this is a golden opportunity to straighten out in her mind the twisted attitude she has toward mental illness. She should understand, as should everyone, that there is really no essential difference between mental and physical illness. She can be the messenger of this helpful information to everyone who might ask her about this."

How To Explain

Explain it to her this way. If you had fallen and broken your leg, it would have been useless, out of shape and for a time you would have had to protect it in a cast until all its parts had healed and you could use it again."

In this case it was your nerves which were crippled and for the time you had to be protected in a hospital until they had an opportunity to be healed and you could carry on your work again."

You should not be ashamed of this episode nor let your child feel afraid of you. You are well again and if you do not load yourself with work and responsibilities far beyond your capacity to bear, there is no reason why you should suffer again. I am sure even at five the child will understand this explanation."

PLAN IN ADVANCE FOR IDEAL PICNIC

Make your picnic a real safari. Then you'll be sure to have everything from matches to bottle opener when you get to the outing grounds. The most frustrating experience is to get away from civilization for a day outdoors and then find you can't have a cool drink unless you bite off the top of the bottle.

It's a good idea to make a list of what is to be taken and give every picnicker, family or friend, the responsibility of bringing certain things.

Equipment Man
Dad can take charge of the equipment. He'll be starting the fire anyway. Let him organize the portable barbecue (or bricks and grill if he prefers). He may not be able to find wood on the spur of the moment so it's a good idea to have charcoal briquets on tap. Those packaged in aluminum foil offer clean transportation and are protected from atmospheric dampness. A real amateur may need a charcoal lighter to help the fire along, so have that set to go, too.

Dad should also make sure the cooler is filled with ice cubes and the car ice box, if one is used, clean and ready to hold milk, soda, sandwiches, potato salad or what have you.
A picnic basket should be all set to go car-wise. It should be equipped with inexpensive eating utensils, salt and pepper shakers (don't forget to fill them), paper plates and napkins. If the meal is to be a soggy one, plastic plates are a good investment for the future. Cups and plates of melamine ware are inexpensive and may be used at home also. The ready-set basket should hold bottle opener, can opener, matches. Scout-Type Pot.

If coffee or another hot drink is to be served, the old-fashioned boy scout type coffee pot is ideal. (But don't forget to bring the coffee.)
A colorful oil cloth may be used as a table covering or on the ground. If things spill on it, they may be easily wiped up. It's a good idea to bring along an empty can or a pitcher for lugging water for drinking or tidying up.
It's also a good idea to have a plan for younger members of the family — some sort of outdoor game. Swimming will cool off hot little bodies, so it is wonderful if it can be combined with picnicking. Adults may enjoy lounging under the shade of a tree sipping cool refreshments and swapping stories, but you can't expect the kids to sit and twiddle their thumbs.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Marriage 8 Mos. Old, Husband Fears Home May Buzz With Idle Roomers

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: My wife of eight months has some daffy ideas, but the last one is a prize. She tells me I'm the one who's nuts, so I'll leave it up to you.

We live in a nice flat in a good neighborhood. The rent is $75 a month (plus utilities) and although the bedroom is small, it's still a bargain.

Last week my wife told me she found a beautiful apartment, two bedrooms, private entrance, and a little patio in the rear—all for $150 a month. I asked her how she thought we could afford such rent and she said it was easy. She knows two gentlemen who are looking for a place to live. They would share the second bedroom and pay $40 a month each. I asked who these gentlemen were and she said she used to know them in Kalamazoo.

I haven't seen these guys but I don't like the idea much already. She says I'm out of my mind. Am I? — Always Wrong.

Married only eight months and the bride has already rounded up a couple of old friends from Kalamazoo to help raise her standard of living? You have a right to object to this traffic in your home. In fact, if you O. K. it, someone ought to drop a butterfly net over you.

Tell the little woman no dice. If the Kalamazoos decided to move out after a few months, you'd be stuck with the high rental. Then you'd have to start scratching for new roomers or move back to the old flea-bag. Stay where you are.

Dear Ann: My wife and I have been married two years. She married outside her religion. Her parents have been very nice about it, but her maiden aunt persists in filling her head with notions of guilt and horror.

Our first child was born last week. The baby is healthy and normal in every respect, but he has a red birthmark the size of a nickel, on the side of his face.

This aunt has told my wife it's a punishment for marrying outside her religion. She says the dark red mark is symbolic of the wine she sipped in the other church during the ceremony. She claims the child will carry this mark forever.

My wife is ordinarily a smart girl but this thing has her rocky. Will you please say a word on the subject? If anyone can straighten her out, you can — Tired Man.

Your wife should tell her aunt to pick up her voodoo drums and move on. There's no connection between your child's birthmark and wine sipped anywhere. Birthmarks can happen to anyone.

Mary Sunshine is also mistaken on another score. The child needn't carry this mark forever. This sounds like a portwine stain and can probably be completely removed by a good dermatologist. Excellent new techniques have been developed in recent years. Look into this.

Dear Ann: I work in an office and my desk is right by the door which seems to be a convenient stopping place for everyone. I hate to sound like a crabby old man, but my problem is getting me down.

I'm considered the jolly type and all day long people come by to borrow my dictionary, my stapler, my scissors and my stamps, because they misplace theirs. But the thing that burns me up the most is when they want to borrow my pen. I'm an old-fashioned bird who still uses a fountain-pen. In the last six months three pens have walked off. Must I start to say "No"? What's the answer?—Dad.

Since you're an "old-fashioned boy"—here's an "old-fashioned remedy." When people borrow your fountain pen always keep the cap and just hand them the writing part. A person would never put a naked, uncovered pen in his pocket (or her purse.) The cap which you hold will remind you to get the rest of the pen back if they forget.

Confidentially: Disappointed: I didn't print your letter because I can't discuss this problem in print. If you'll send me your name and address I'll try to help you.

(Ann Landers will be happy to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.)

WHY GROW OLD?

Dandruff Can Be Dangerous To Scalp Unless Controlled At Early Stage

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

While dandruff is not usually a serious disease it can be most annoying and very embarrassing. There are three kinds. There is dry dandruff (the simplest kind), oily dandruff, and the most severe version which is called seborrheic dermatitis.

Practically everyone has dry dandruff at one time or another. The skin is constantly shedding old dead cells as new ones are formed. This is a natural process and is invisible when the process is normal. However, due to illness, extremes in the weather, strains, nervousness and other causes sometimes the shedding may become extreme.

Instead of shedding individual cells, large collections may slough off at once so that they are noticeable to the naked eye. Thus you have dry dandruff.

Bad Situation

If the secretion of oil is excessive, the dead cells may mass together and adhere to the scalp. This is a bad situation because it provides such a perfect setting for the growth of bacteria. When this occurs treatment by a skin specialist is usually required.

The three factors governing dandruff are the amount of oil, rate of scaling, and infection. As you can readily see, it is important to catch dandruff in its earliest and simplest stage—dry dandruff.

In the past, many treatments have been used and many of them have been discarded. At best they only brought relief for very short periods. Sulfur was perhaps the most effective. It has strong antibacterial properties and controls the rate of shedding to some degree.

Shampoos Help

Naturally, shampoos are important in removing loose scales and oil and dirt; also some of the shampoos fight bacteria. Great strides have been made recently. There are products which control dry and oily dandruff, after several applications, for from four weeks to four months. You apply this before shampooing the hair.

Many simple defects of skin and scalp develop into more serious ones with neglect. While we require natural oil to lubricate our skin and scalp, excessive amounts of it can speed the process of deterioration. This is true of the formation of blackheads. An extremely oily skin is much more apt to develop blackheads than a drier one.

Simple Fastener Designed For Toddler's Shoes

Shoestrings have posed a frustrating problem to children and parents alike ever since people started wearing shoes. Kindergartners have been faced with the problem of tying their shoelaces before strating to school. Mothers have been plagued by the catastrophe of the shoelace that breaks just as the school bus heaves in sight.

Now some compassionate New England inventors have produced a solution to the national dilemma—a simple latch fastener for shoes, designed to make life easier for toddlers who squirm and fuss at being dressed, children who dress themselves but can't tie shoelaces, and mothers who have to stop in the middle of getting breakfast to unkink shoelace knots.

This new device is a simple press-down latch attached to a stout leather band over the instep of the shoe. It keeps the shoes on, and there's nothing to be tied.

Here's How You Can Glamorize Your Old Outdoor Furniture

If you've been nagging the man of the house to rejuvenate your outdoor furniture, and haven't put anything more over than the sound of your voice, don't despair. You can do the project yourself and with less wear and tear on your disposition than it takes to be straw boss.

It's never too late to refurbish outdoor furniture, even if you've begun to use beat-up items. If you don't do the job this year, you'll be stuck with a bigger project next year.

Choose a cool day to do the job. Equip yourself with paint brush or vacuum cleaner spray attachment and a good mixture of paint.

Compatible Colors

Choose a color scheme that is compatible to your surroundings. Violent reds may be too shocking contrast in mountains or hilly country sides, but perfectly at home at the seashore. Rattan furniture, popular in recent years is found in new garb—pink, white, yellow—chic in any environment. Redwood pieces take a coat of varnish before going outdoors for another season.

Metal furniture requires a more

One Of The Most Simple Ways To Lose Some Weight

How many new-fangled diets have you seen in the past few months? And how many methods "guaranteed" to cure that tired, run-down feeling? Probably more than you can count.

Well, somebody's country cousin has come up with a short solution to both problems: just eat less and sleep more!

But we all know that WHAT we eat is more important than how much. By the same token, HOW we sleep means more than how long. Potatoes and cream desserts even in small quantities can put on the pounds, and a night of restless tossing on bedding that is old, lumpy, and sagging is more exhausting than a fun-filled night on the town.

No Cut Flowers? Just Use Your Paper Napkins

Paper napkins have become so much a part of family living that they are today the first thing we reach for from breakfast through all but the most formal meals. They not only have come out of the kitchen, but they've gone clear out of the house with us to make our patio, park and beach meals happier occasions.

The reasons for the popularity of paper napkins are easy to list. Their natural convenience, work and time saving qualities, are perhaps first, but added to these are other reasons for their endorsement—their good feel to the skin, what "fashion editors" would call "the hand"—their strength, absorbency and versatility.

Next time you entertain, use paper napkins not only in the conventional way, but use them also to help make your table pretty.

One thing you might do for almost any occasion from a club meeting buffet table to a bridal shower is fold paper napkins into with mints or nuts for after dinner eating. You can arrange them on the table as a centerpiece, around a floral centerpiece, or pin them to the tablecover as a border decoration.

To make party favors with paper napkins for a shower, tie them over delicate sachet. Make these in ball shape, and tie with ribbons in lover's knot form. This idea can be adapted to almost any occasion.

For instance, for a birthday party for youngsters you might tie napkins around bubble gum, or candies. You can make a miniature bride with paper napkins, too, by just tying a white paper napkin around a darning egg, or a small rubber ball on a stick. A bit of white netting ties the neck, and another bit becomes a veil. You make the face with colored pencils or crayons.

Attention Turns To Swim Suits Of Colorful Wool

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor
Girls who like to swim as well as decorate the beach are hailing with delight the return of the woolknit swim suit to this summer's fashions. Streamlined, snug-fitting, quick-drying wool suits have been the choice of competitive swimmers for many years. But the professional tank suit of old left something to be desired in flattery.

Now top designers have turned their attention to wool swim suits, and the results are far different from those shapeless garments of yesterday. The new suits are still brief, still streamlined, still snug, but they have acquired feminine overtones in the form of built-in uplift bras, empire lines, brief skirt panels, blouse or draped tops, flattering necklines and new patterned waves, such as knit plaids or stripes.

Although there are plenty of high colors available, black leads the field in popularity this year. Many smart women have discovered the most flattering colors for sun-and-surf wear are black or white. The black knit suit lends itself to colorful accessories in the form of beach robes and sandals, scarves, cover-up jackets and beach bags, particularly effective in the new vivid "hot" tones of orange, gold or bright pink.

There are many softening details in the new wool suits. There are halter tops and strapless bodices, the latter usually with removable straps to be donned for active swimming. Some of the suits come with matching or coordinated sweaters, stoles or shrugs. For sun-dodgers there are smart covered-up styles such as a one-piece hooded bathing suit of black woolknit with three-quarter sleeves and brief boy pants.

Color, Design Have Invaded Modern Kitchens

How kitchens have changed since the days when Grandma was a girl!

Color and design have invaded the modern kitchen, changing it from a strictly utilitarian work shop to the most cheerful room in the house. Gone are the dingy dull pots and pans of a generation ago. Gone are the antiseptic white walls and appliances of the kitchenette era. Today's kitchens are designed with an eye to color as well as convenience. Walls may be mellow knotty pine. Appliances may be any color of the rainbow. And pots and pans can be works of art.

Kitchen utensils are kept on display these days, as part of the decorating scheme. Some homemakers like the warm gleam of copper pans on the wall. Others like the new decorated porcelain enameled pots and pans to match her range, refrigerator and other appliances—pink, blue, aqua, yellow or even bright red. She can plan her own kitchen color scheme, and find all the utensils and appliances she needs in the tones of her choice. No wonder today's kitchen is the favorite gathering spot for all the family, as well as the guests.

FIRST AND LAST IN WINN—The old Gaars Mill gin, a monument to the rise and fall of king cotton in Winn parish, stands still intact at Gaars Mill where the tired old mill is still usable and may be ready for service for the coming season. The Gaar brothers, owners of the gin, have not definitely decided whether the gin will operate again. Last year it ginned 238 bales. In its heyday the gin handled as much as 2100 bales per season, back in the late 20's. Cotton production in Winn parish drops every year while the timber industry continues to flourish.

Beach Styles For Younger Set Colorful

Chemistry brightens the sun-and-surf fashions of small fry as well as the ir elders these days. New midacle fibers make swim suits and sun styles that dry in a wink, keep their bright colors, don't shrink and can be washed out at home as easily as a pair of nylons.

Beach styles for the younger set are both colorful and practical this summer. Little girls' swim suits are available in new color-sealed acetates, in nylon, orlon and dacron blends. Boys' swim trunks are likely to be stretch nylon or a blend of dacron and cotton or wool. The stretch suits allow a ways fit and usually can be worn for several years, always stay on are easy to launder and quick to dry.

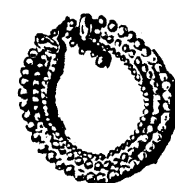

Strange Tides Of Mont-St-Michel Draw Visitors

MONT-ST-MICHEL, Normandy—The strange tides of Mont-St-Michel are exercising their attraction on summer visitors once more. Currents of other waters may move too slowly to be caught by the human eye; at the rocky abbey-topped isle at the junction of Normandy and Brittany, they rush in so swiftly that they often attain the speed of a galloping horse. This phenomenon reaches its zenith at the equinoxes (next one September 22-23) when in a matter of minutes the springy sands which separate the island from the main coast are covered with foaming surf.

Man's Death Still Cloaked By Mystery

OAK GROVE (Special) —State Police struck a baffling trial yesterday in the mysterious death of Earl W. Green, 49-year-old Winn parish man who died here Wednesday night after he was found on the side of a road with a fractured skull.

An investigating trooper said he had talked with several more persons who saw Green on the road, but none reported being a witness to the incident.

Green left Oak Grove around dark Wednesday and was found on highway 17 nearly three miles out of Oak Grove about 9:30 p.m. He had a list of farmers' names in a quest for employment.

The State Police said it was highly possible that the man might have been slugged. He had multiple injuries of the face and a deep cut on one leg.

Clothing Found

However, there was no sign of a scuffle where he was found by a passing motorist. A box of clothes lying beside the body was unharmed.

The State Police reported, however, that it had ruled out the possibility of a hit-and-run driver. The man could have been struck with the side of a car whose driver was unaware of the man, the officer said.

Horace Crowe of West Carroll parish found Green lying unconscious. He was rushed to a clinic here where he died around midnight.

The State Police said the man was on the east side of the road facing the traffic. He had five cents on him when discovered.

Saw Victim

Cab driver Carl Hayman said he saw the victim in Oak Grove about two hours before the tragedy occurred. He told investigating officers that Green said he wanted employment the next day.

Hayman said he gave the man a list of farmers and told him he could probably get a job after the Fourth of July. He said Green wanted to go to work on the Fourth.

In West Monroe, Green's sister, Mrs. W. C. Galliger, 304 Filhiol, said he left Winfield Saturday to get a job in Transylvania.

She said the family hadn't heard from him until word came of his death. He was a sawmill and construction worker.

Funeral services were held at Winfield yesterday afternoon. He was the father of two sons.

Donations Lag In Drive For Disaster Fund

Less than $500 has been contributed to the Red Cross emergency drive for funds to aid victims of Hurricane Audrey, D. X. Ellett, chairman of the Ouachita Parish Chapter of the American Red Cross, said yesterday.

"We must raise much more to do our share in carrying out the staggering task of rehabilitation in the Cameron area," Ellett said.

"I have seen portions of the stricken area," he stated, "and I assure you that those people need all the help we can give them — and more."

Ellett again urged citizens of Ouachita Parish to send in their contributions immediately to Red Cross Chapter headquarters, 200 South Grand Street, Monroe.

Small Amounts

The local chapter office reported that early contributions have been in small amounts, several of them coming from children. One small donation was sent in by four little girls from Monroe — Kay Pruitt, Alice Jordan, Donna Franks and Sheila Franks — who made and sold punch to children in their neighborhood to raise the money.

"I wish we had a least a hundred more youngsters like these," said one local Red Cross worker. "We can surely use them."

'Dud' Aerial Firecracker Rips Up Boy

PATERSON, N. J., July 5 (AP) —A misfired aerial bomb picked up from a Fourth of July fireworks display by a teen-age boy exploded today almost blowing his brother to bits.

The boy, Joseph Bonnick, 14, was rushed to Paterson General Hospital where he was not expected to live.

All his fingers were blown off, his left ankle was nearly severed and four gaping holes were torn in his body by the blast, police said.

Rocked Neighborhood

It also rocked the neighborhood tearing off the Bonnick's cellar door, shattering a window and hurling part of the bomb's container into Joseph's room where it was embedded in a mattress.

Joseph's 15-year-old brother, Michael, had picked up the bomb last night when it landed at his feet after failing to explode during a fireworks display at Hinchliffe Stadium, Michael told police.

HELD FOR LAUREL ROBBERY

Mobile Holdup Charged To Pair Jailed In Mississippi

MOBILE, Ala., July 5 (AP) — A $6,513 Mobile armed holdup was charged today to two men already charged with a bank robbery in Mississippi.

The men were identified by the FBI as Jessie Woodrow Easterling, 43, Laurel, Miss., and Charles Lawrence Sullivan, 34, Syracuse, N. Y. They were charged with taking the $6,513 from the loop branch of the First Federal Savings & Loan Assn. of Mobile July 11, 1956.

FBI agent Fred Hallford said a complaint was filed before the U. S. commissioner here. It will be forwarded to Jackson, Miss.

Two armed men, wearing dark glasses and straw hats, entered the Mobile savings office just before closing time. One threatened to kill two women tellers if they failed to turn over the money. The getaway car was found several hours later in a supermarket parking lot.

None of the money has been recovered. Easterling is in the Hinds County jail at Jackson, Miss., and Sullivan in the Lauderdale County jail at Meridian in lieu of $15,000 bond each. They were charged with taking almost $10,000 from the Gardner Center branch of the First National Bank of Laurel last May 7.

Priest, Clown

Two costumed men, one portraying a priest and the other a clown, held up the Laurel bank during the height of a Diamond Jubilee celebration.

Sullivan and Easterling were arrested later. Officers said witnesses identified them as the costumed gunmen. J. B. Hankings, 24-year-old Laurel cab driver, was charged with driving the getaway car.

Cullen Funeral Set Saturday In Houston Home

HOUSTON, July 5 (UP) — Funeral services for oilman millionaire Hugh Roy Cullen will be held at 4 p. m. Saturday in the Cullen home in Houston. Rev. Stanley Smith, rector of Palmer Memorial Episcopal Church, will officiate. Burial will be at Forest Park cemetery.

Cullen was founder and head of the global Quintana Petroleum Co., which discovers, drills for and sells oil. He was called the father of Houston University, now the second largest college in Texas, and gave millions toward building the school into a major institution. Cullen gave most of his money away through the Cullen Foundation. Much of it went to hospitals. Pallbearers at the funeral service will be three sons-in-law and three grandsons. They are Corbin Robertson, Douglas B. Marshall, Isaac Arnold, Roy Henry Cullen, Harry H. Cullen and Isaac Arnold
